VOL. 1, NO. 307. PRICE FIVE CENTS

OVERCOME BY EMOTION

ATTORNEY FOR THE STATE BREAKS DOWN DURING SPEECH.

MRS. BRADLEY ALMOST IN STUPOR

Passionate Appeal Made for Conviction of Woman charged With the Murder of ex-United States Senator Brown.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Passionate oratory marked the proceedings today in the trial of Mrs. Annie M. Bradley, charged with the shooting and killing of ex-Senator Brown, of Utah, in this city last December. The courtroom was unable to accommodate the great number who came to witness the last scenes of the trial. Many of the attendants were women and some of them arrived at the city hall long before the doors of the court room were opened.

Mrs. Bradley came into court as if fully alive to the importance of the proceedings. She took her accustomed place, where she could be plainly seen by the jurymen and very near her counsel.

Assistant District Attorney Turner opened for the government. He proceeded in a matter-of-fact way to define the law in relation to the crime committed and followed with a review of salient incidents of the testimony.

While he was describing the scene of the killing of Brown, an attendant delivered to the district attorney a package containing the revolver which had been used by Mrs. Bradley. As the weapon was uncovered and laid at a convenient place near the speaker, Mrs. Bradley lowered her head and shook with a convulsive sob. Closing her eyes, she remained as if in a stupor, only occasionally looking toward the jury and watching their faces.

The attorney insisted that the jury should cast aside all sentiment and treat the case exactly as if a man had done the shooting. He exhibited defendant's revolver to the jury, together with the handbag in which it had been carried from Salt Lake City. The assistant district attorney reviewed the evidence of insanity and declared that only the most trivial incidents could be cited to justify such a theory. He insisted that the jury should discard all thought of the mistreatment she had received from Senator Brown, as it could have nothing to do with their decision.

As he proceeded the attorney turned slightly pale and leaning on a nearby table, paused and then sat down. He had been overcome by emotion and a nervous shock. Leaving the room for a few moments with the district attorney, the court suspended the proceedings until he returned and resumed his argument, which was eloquent and at times impassioned.

Mr. Turner strongly appealed to the emotions of the jury. He said Mrs. Brown was an outraged woman, and that Clarence Bradley was not a very bad husband and Mrs. Bradley should not have been unhappy with him. The case, he said, was worse than a scandal and a stretch. It was a pretty dangerous woman that thinks a man who is not her husband more sacred than she does her own husband. He did not care whether she was brilliant or not. "When we take God's law into our hands," he said, "we become pretty dangerous creatures."

He recalled Mrs. Bradley's efforts to induce Senator Brown to secure a divorce from his wife at a time when the wife was stricken and said that act involved cruelty even greater than that shown in the shooting of Mr. Brown. He referred to the Bradley affair as "this miserable case." He ridiculed the idea that the defendant had sepsis.

"Sepsis," he said, "sets the blood boiling and sets the pulse to beating. Why, even a horse doctor could have told if she had sepsis."

He continued to ridicule the testimony that she suffered from toxic insanity. He referred to the testimony of Dr. B. D. Evans, the New York alienist who declared that Mrs. Bradley was insane, and asked the jury whether he impressed them as a doctor or as a stump speaker.

"Didn't he appear like a gentleman who was making a speech and was mighty well pleased with himself and the sound of his voice?" asked Mr. Turner.

Mr. Turner held the close attention of the jury throughout the summing up. The eyes of a number of the jurors wandered at times from the speaker to Mrs. Bradley, who sat with closed eyes and bowed head only a few feet beyond the advocate of the government.

Mr. Turner concluded shortly after 12 o'clock and was at once followed by Robert Wells for the defense. Mr. Wells at once took up the plea of insanity, saying that if Mrs. Bradley had been sane and wished to kill Arthur Brown she had thousands of opportunities to accomplish that purpose and cover her crime.

"When she shot Arthur Brown she shot the thing she loved," declared the attorney in tragic tones, "and she still loves him today."

NOME HAS ASH STORM

MINING CITY IS COVERED WITH FINE DUST FROM VOLCANIC ERUPTION.

IT BEGAN SEVERAL DAYS AGO

Dust Blowing From the Ocean Covers Ground to Depth of Several Inches—Stops the Sledging.

Nome, Alaska, Nov. 30.—Nome and probably the entire Seward peninsula is shrouded in an ashy haze and the ground for miles is covered several inches deep with a fine gritty powder which is believed to be volcanic ash.

The storm began several days ago, the dust blowing in from the ocean, but at first little attention was paid to it as it was expected it would soon cease. Instead, however, the fall continued and after a day became so dense as to seriously interfere with out of door pursuits. Miners coming into town reported that for miles the snow was so impregnated with the ashes that sledging was almost impossible.

The air is so full of ashes that breathing is difficult and the fine powder was sifted into houses and business places to such an extent that it is thick on floors and on everything in the way of goods and household furniture. It is believed that some of the volcanic islands, either between this coast and Siberia or more probably those islands in the Alaska peninsula, are again in eruption and that the ashy downpour is due to this. No serious results are anticipated, but much inconvenience is being experienced as a result of the peculiar storm.

LARGE BARN BURNED

A Mule and One Hog Were Roasted Alive Saturday.

The large barn of Bridges Bros., near Clifton City, caught fire Saturday noon from a spark from an engine used in threshing wheat and the structure was burned to the ground, together with its contents, which included a mule, one boar hog, hay, corn, farming implements, harness, saddles, etc.

The fire also spread to a nearby meadow and a large rick of hay was burned. The total loss is between $1,000 and $1,200, with only $300 insurance.

Trio of Hunters Home.

John Kuhn, Len Menefee and Gus Iuchs are home from a successful hunting visit on the farm of Mr. McCurdy, northwest of Sedalia. They bagged much game.

BANK ROBBED OF $4,000

THAT AT NEW FRANKLIN IN HOWARD COUNTY, SOME TIME FRIDAY NIGHT.

THERE IS NO CLUE TO THE ROBBERS

Bank Is Insured for $5,000—Reward of $1,000 for the Arrest and Conviction of Each Thief—How this Job Was Done.

W. F. Keyser, secretary of the Missouri Bankers' association, was advised by 'phone yesterday forenoon that the Bank of New Franklin, at New Franklin, Howard county, on the St. Louis division of the M. & T., thirty-eight miles from Sedalia, was dynamited by robbers some time Friday night and $4,000 in currency and coin stolen. The fact of the robbery was not known until the bank attaches were getting ready to open for business Saturday morning.

At what time the "job" was done is not known to a certainty, although there are some who claim to have heard an unusual noise not unlike an explosion at about 3 o'clock Saturday morning.

To deaden the sound of the explosion bales of hay and sacks of grain from a nearby mill were carried into the bank by the robbers and piled up against the vault door.

Only a small charge of the explosive was required to blow open the vault door, after which the robbers found themselves confronted by two so-called burglar proof doors. These were successfully "blown," and the contents of the safe were at the command of the robbers, who took everything in sight and decamped.

The Bank of New Franklin was capitalized for $25,000, and was insured in the Ocean Accident and Guarantee Corporation for $5,000. A. L. King, secretary of the bank, The Missouri Bankers' association has offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of each robber.

It is believed the men who did the job left town on the south bound M. & T. flyer.

A. L. Berger, of Kansas City, inspector, and Mr. Keyser will go to New Franklin today to view the wrecked bank.

Secretary Keyser yesterday sent out the following circular letter, under the caption: "Bank Burglars! $1,000 Reward Each," addressed to Members of the Missouri Bankers' Association, Sheriffs and Police Officers:

"The safe of the Bank of New Franklin was blown last night and something like $4,000 in money taken. All indications justify the conclusion that the work was done by professionals. The safe was considered a good one, nevertheless, it was robbed with apparent ease, and without arousing the citizens of the town.

"The bank is fully covered by insurance in the Ocean Accident and Guarantee Corporation, which means the loss will be settled promptly and equitably.

"The following rewards are offered for the apprehension and conviction of each person engaged in this burglary:

"By the Missouri Bankers' association, $500; by the Ocean Accident and Guarantee Corporation, $200; by the state of Missouri, $300. Total reward for each burglar, $1,000.

"The above rewards to be effective one year from the date of this notice, and payable under the rules of the respective parties offering the same.

"Your co-operation is earnestly solicited in our efforts to apprehend these representatives of the most vicious and dangerous class of criminals we have to deal with.

"In case any clue is obtained wire this office and the sheriff of Howard county, Fayette, Mo. Very truly yours, —W. F. Keyser, Secretary."

Has Located in Sedalia.

Dr. Charles B. Trader, who for the past twelve years has been located in Kansas City, has moved his family to Sedalia, and has opened offices in the Cassidy building, over the Arlington pharmacy, for the practice of his profession.

Dr. Trader is a son of the late Dr. John W. Trader, and was born and reared in Sedalia. He is known to everybody here, and no one is held in higher esteem. That he will soon have a lucrative practice is assured in advance. The Democrat-Sentinel welcomes Dr. Trader and his esteemed family back to Sedalia.

Small Fire Saturday Night.

Carelessness in striking a match at Frank Yeater's home, Eleventh and Ohio streets, at 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening, caused a small fire, which resulted in a $25 damage. A spark from the match ignited a portier, which was burned, also a portion of a carpet. The loss is covered by insurance.

Lawrence Klemm Dead.

Lawrence Klemm, a miller of Montrose, Mo., and a member of St. Vincent de Paul's council No. 38, Knights of Father Mathew, of this city, died at Boonville Saturday. The body will be shipped through here today for burial at Montrose.

THE "LID" AND BLUE LAWS

THIS IS WHAT THE PEOPLE OF NEBRASKA ARE NOW UP AGAINST HARD.

"DRYS" AT LINCOLN ARE VERY BUSY

Prohibition and Sunday Observance Features in Elections—Puritanical Sabbaths and No Dramshops.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 30.—Statewide prohibition and Sunday blue-law observance will be factors in the next elections. Omaha is promised a Sunday lid that applies even to the selling of newspapers and this lid is expected to be followed by many smaller towns.

Lincoln at present is more interested in the saloon problem than Puritanical Sabbaths, as it is believed that with the dramshops removed the need of blue Sundays will be greatly lessened.

Whether to raise the saloon license from $1,500 a year to a prohibitive figure or openly vote to make Lincoln "dry" is the question now being agitated. The municipal campaign will have the liquor problem as its main feature.

Under the referendum act, Lincoln can vote the saloon out of existence should the majority favor prohibition, and the sentiment is gaining to take this step instead of increasing the license. The dramshop fee was originally $1,000. This was increased by half and many of the saloons dropped out. However, drinks are still convenient in Lincoln.

While not as strict as that of Omaha, Lincoln has a Sunday law that prohibits open amusements such as baseball and theaters. The saloons are also closed. Many are now urging that Lincoln be made the model of blue-law cities of the state.

The anti-saloon movement, while fostered by the churches and educational interests, is receiving support outside of these circles. As the state university is located here, many of the merchants have been urged by out-of-town buyers to aid in making Lincoln a prohibition town.

Five years ago, when local option was last submitted, five of the seven wards voted out the saloon.

A SURPRISE MARRIAGE

Mr. W. H. Carter, Wichita, and Miss Grace Matthews, Sedalia.

Miss Grace B. Matthews, only daughter of Mrs. F. Matthews and niece of Dr. J. W. McClure, of Sedalia, was married in Kansas City Saturday morning to W. H. Carter, of Wichita, Kas., by Bishop Atwill, of the Episcopal church.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter are at the Baltimore in Kansas City for some time, and then will be at home to their friends in their own beautiful residence, 1200 Emporia avenue, Wichita, Kas.

The Democrat-Sentinel joins the many Sedalia friends of the bride in extending congratulations.

Home From New Mexico.

R. I. Hatton and his son, Casper, returned Saturday morning from a two weeks' visit to their 320-acre ranch seven miles from Santa Rosa, New Mexico. They brought with them samples of corn and vegetables grown on the ranch that will compare favorably with anything grown in Missouri.

The Messrs. Hatton will return to New Mexico in January, but will not remove there for a year or two at least, and maybe not then.

'PHONE RATE IS RAISED

THOSE OF MISSOURI AND KANSAS
TELEPHONE COMPANY IN RESIDENCES.

INCREASE IS 50 CENTS A MONTH

New Rate Effective January 1, 1908—
A Mass Meeting of Subscribers
at Court House Monday Night to Protest.

A call for a mass meeting of subscribers of the Missouri and Kansas Telephone Co., to protest against an increase in the rate of residence 'phones of some of the company patrons from $1.25 to $1.75 a month, effective January 1, 1908, while other patrons are given until December 1, 1908, before the new rate is effective, was circulated Saturday and quite numerous signed. The call and names of those who signed it follows:

Call for Mass Meeting.

To the subscribers of the Missouri and Kansas Telephone company who have been served with notice of raise of rates beginning January 1, 1908:

We, the undersigned subscribers of the Missouri and Kansas Telephone company, feeling that the action of this company in raising the rates on some of its patrons beginning January 1, 1908, is unfair and unwarranted, hereby request that all of the subscribers who have been served with notice of raise meet in the circuit court room on Monday evening, at 7:30, that we may discuss the situation and take steps to prevent this imposition.

In this connection we desire to state that it has come to the knowledge of some who here sign this timely notice has been given to some subscribers and that they have been given contracts for a lower rate for one year ahead.

We feel that the telephone company is not warranted in raising their tolls from twelve to fifteen thousand dollars a year upon this community, and issue this call that we may make a firm protest against such action.

What Mr. Lincoln Says.

Mr. Jos. H. Lincoln, district manager of the Missouri and Kansas Telephone Co., when asked by the Democrat-Sentinel Saturday for his company's side of the controversy, said: "The telephone company has been engaged for nearly two years past in rebuilding its Sedalia exchange and now has the work practically finished. This has cost in round figures $175,000 and has given Sedalia one of the finest and most complete telephone systems in the United States.

"The new switchboard in the Elks' building cost over $43,000, and while it is of the same style as switchboards used in the cities of New York, Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City, it is in some respects better than any of them, because it is newer and contains some later improvement."

"Several miles of underground conduit and many miles of underground and aerial cable have replaced the old and unsightly overhead lines, and the old poles and wires are now being taken down and will never be seen again.

"In putting in such a plant the company has looked forward and made ample provision for the growth which may reasonably be expected, and has spared no pains or expense to give the city the best that could be had. There is a good reason for all this. Seven years ago we had 502 subscribers in Sedalia. Our plant was in bad condition. The telephones were of an obsolete type and no honest person would deny that the service was far from what it should be. "The business began to grow and a new switchboard costing about $20,000 was put in. Almost before this board was completed an addition had to be made, and two years ago a telephone engineer from Boston visited Sedalia and stated that it was past his understanding how we gave any service at all, with the conditions under which we worked. A contract was made with the Elks for the second floor and basement of the new building at Third and Lamine streets,

HAS CLOSED HIS SALOON

WAS CONVERTED AT RECENT RE-VIVAL CONDUCTED AT PILOT GROVE.

JACOB BECKER SEES HIS MISTAKE

Bought the Resort Formerly Owned by the Late "Ben" Cooper—May Pour His Stock of Liquors
Into the Street.

An extraordinary case of reform, that has caused interest among the people of the town, occurred at Pilot Grove last Tuesday night, when a saloon keeper named Jacob Becker, aged about 60 years, who had been engaged in the liquor business for some time, and who had been attending a revival meeting, professed religion, closed his saloon and decided to quit selling liquor for the remainder of his life.

Two weeks ago Rev. W. H. Smith, of California, Mo., went to Pilot Grove to conduct a revival meeting at the Methodist church.

Among the daily attendants at the meeting was Mr. Becker, who, after the last day, approached the minister in charge and informed him that he had been converted and had decided to quit the saloon business for good. He did so.

Mr. Becker is now trying to decide what to do with his stock of goods, and it is possible that he will follow the advice of Rev. Smith, who suggested pouring the liquor into the street.

The people of Pilot Grove are greatly aroused over Mr. Becker's reformation. Some declare he is "crazy," while the temperance advocates heartily approve of his action.

Mr. Becker was formerly a farmer, but disposed of his land a couple of years ago and invested $2,500 in the saloon that is now closed, and which was formerly conducted by the late "Ben" Cooper.

HUNTERS CAUSED A FIRE

They Were Trespassing on the Farm
of Mr. W. O. Powell.

W. O. Powell, of the north side, informs us that he was the victim of a disastrous fire yesterday, as the result of hunters trespassing on his farm, says the Green Ridge Local News.

Mr. Powell has his farm properly posted, but says that they pay no attention to his notices, and that patience has ceased to be a virtue in his case.

The fire destroyed about 40 acres of pasture and a lot of rails. It is supposed to have been caused by accidentally dropping a lighted match in the grass.

"Uncle Billy" has room to be wroth over the matter, and we would warn hunters to be on the lookout for signs in the future.

FOUND HER IN A "DEN"

Fined Her $50 and Was Ordered to Leave the City.

Mrs. Viola Allen Peaman, who two years ago left her husband because he failed to support her, was arrested by the police Saturday, on complaint of her husband, charged with being an inmate of a bawdy house. She was found in a den and tried in police court Saturday afternoon, being convicted and fined $50 and ordered to leave town.

The girl, who is a daughter of Windsor parents, made up with her husband and accompanied by him returned to Kansas City this morning.

FORAKER ISSUED A DEF

PRESIDENT BLAMED FOR THE PRESENT SITUATION BY OHIO SENATOR.

A CANDIDACY IS NOW ANNOUNCED

Eliminates Himself From Senatorship
in Letter Made Public—Has Caused a Decided Sensation.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Senator Foraker, of Ohio, furnished the political sensation of the year yesterday by making public a letter which he has addressed to the chairman of the League of Republican Clubs of his state.

In that letter he eliminates himself as a candidate for re-election to the United States senate and, by accepting and thanking the clubs for their endorsement of him as a candidate for the presidency, he virtually announces himself as a candidate for this, the highest office under the government.

The letter defends the course the senator has pursued in the senate, admits he has differed with the present administration and defends his course. Inferentially, in the defense of his action in the railroad rate fight, the senator places the responsibility for the present unsatisfactory condition in the financial and business world on the present administration. He takes occasion to say, "I told you so" to the president of the United States.

The letter is variously received. In the administration circle it is said with openness that Senator Foraker is now convinced that the voters of the state of Ohio repudiate his opposition to the present national administration and that Senator Foraker has come to realize that he has no chance of returning to the United States senate. In that circle he is likened to Samson, who pulled down the temple, crushing himself and his enemies.

It is argued that, realizing his inevitable retirement from public life which faces him, Senator Foraker now tries to destroy Taft with him. Friends of Senator Foraker say that the letter makes sure that the Ohio delegation to the next republican national convention will be Foraker. They say that the courage and frankness of the letter will turn the scale in Foraker's favor. They point to the declaration of Senator Foraker in favor of submitting the issue to primaries as indicating Foraker's confidence in his ability to get an endorsement from Ohio constituents.

The administration says that the league, which has endorsed Mr. Foraker, is composed largely of men who have secured places of emolument and honor through the influence of Senators Foraker and Dick. They are said not to represent any real sentiment in the state, and their fortunes depend upon the fortunes of the two senators. On the contrary, friends of Senator Foraker say that these men represent the young republicans of the state, who are always independent and who include hundreds of first voters in their ranks.

There is agreement from all sides that the situation is one which demands the presence of Taft in this country at an early day to look after his interests in Ohio.

ROBBED A RESIDENCE

Tramp Stole $23 and a Bracelet at Mr. Bascom's Home.

During the absence of Harry B. Bascom and his family from their home, 909 South Osage street, Thursday afternoon, a tramp forced his way into the dwelling and walked off with $23 in cash, a gold bracelet and a pair of pearl cuff buttons. Of the money taken $4.50 was in dimes.

The thief was seen prowling around the place by neighbors, and a good description was furnished Mr. Bascom, who came down town and made a thorough search for the criminal, but to no purpose.

"I'd been saving up my nickles for Christmas," said Mr. Bascom Saturday, "but on account of my loss I've decided to skip Christmas this year."

THE AILMENT, THE REMEDIES
AND THE DOCTORS.

When congress assemblies Monday a new issue, which has suddenly attained proportions overshadowing all other matters for the present, will demand attention. This is the financial question. Through several sessions of congress attempts have been made to reform our admittedly faulty and unsatisfactory monetary system. Two reasons were responsible for a failure to evolve a remedy. The first was because of a wide divergence of views among those called upon to take the initiative. The second was because action did not appear to be pressingly urgent.

The second of these can no longer exist. It has disappeared and in its stead has developed an urgency that is so insistent that it is the only ground on which to hope for successful treatment of the problem by the approaching congress, for the other barrier is still in the way. In other words, the doctors are as hopelessly disagreed as ever, not as to diagnosis of the patient's ailment, but as to what shall be prescribed.

The secretary of the treasury is in favor of one thing, the president another, the comptroller another, and Chairman Fowler of the currency and banking committee of the house still another. Between, around and among them scores of experts have peculiarly modified views as to what should be done, few of which are exactly alike and each of which meets with determined opposition from those of other opinions.

Roosevelt is credited with being opposed to the asset currency of the American Bankers' association, but favoring a credit currency subjected to a tax so high that it would serve only as emergency circulation. Mr.
Ridgely is advocating the old central bank idea, offering facilities for banks to rediscount their securities whenever they were forced to raise cash under pressure. Still another plan that has supporters is the issue of bank notes on other than government bonds or on credit, insuring their redemption through a guarantee fund replenished by a currency tax.

Whether, and if so in what manner, these conflicting schemes can be reconciled, are questions that can not be profitably discussed before congress undertakes their consideration. It would seem, however, that out of all the determination that exists to do something to reform our monetary system, some plan ought to be devised that will be an improvement over present conditions, even if not a perfect solution of the problem.

THE NEW PARCELS POST.

It is assumed that congress will be urged by the president to enact the Meyer parcels post plan. The general opinion is that the present system is wholly inadequate to the needs of the country. Parcels of eleven pounds may now be sent to certain foreign lands for 12 cents per pound, whilst the domestic rate is 16 cents per pound for packages not exceeding four pounds. Upon this inequality is based one of the strongest arguments for the change.

While thus proposing to increase the weight and lower the cost of carrying parcels by mail, the plan of the postmaster general takes care of the retail merchants in the interior, who have feared that in the reduction of rates they would be pushed to the wall by the competition of the great department stores in our large cities.

To meet this objection the plan provides for packages sent within free delivery routes the rate shall be five cents for the first pound and two cents more for every additional pound, while the rate for parcels mailed outside of the route on which the addressee resides will be 12 cents per pound. No parcels above eleven pounds will be carried. The highest rate for a parcel sent by a city department store would be $1.32, and a like parcel sent by the country merchant to a customer within the range of delivery from his local postoffice would be 25 cents.

It is seen by this that the large mercantile establishments would draw little or no advantage from the plan, and would have to depend, as now, upon the express companies. Its chief benefits would accrue to the interior districts, and especially to the farmers. Farmers would be enabled to send their dairy products, etc., in smaller parcels to their city customers—a change by which many of them would be benefitted by a reduction of the rates on parcels sent to them.

While this plan is far from the parcels post that has long been in operation in other countries, it is a step forward. It should be borne in mind, however, that in this land of magnificent distances lower rates for carrying heavy parcels would beapt to cause an enormous deficit to the post office department in addition to the increasing annual deficits under the present system. Even under the proposed rates an increase of the deficit would be quite probable, and that is the main, if not the only, objection to the plan.

Andrew Carnegie, famous as a golf player and known as the hero fund promoter, now comes out for denatured football. Andrew proposes that the Carnegie "Tech" school shall play no more games, at which an admission is charged. The notice has struck consternation into the hearts of the colleges of the east, which depend on the gate receipts to maintain their football teams and keep athletics going in this way.

The clever woman will read the advertisements in the Democrat-Sentinel this month and proceed to do her Christmas shopping before the rush, when she can get waited on without waiting forever, and when she can get what she wants before it is all gone or has been ruined by much handling.

Roosevelt is in favor of heavily taxed emergency credit notes. Now it will be much easier for a number of persons to say what they are for.

Believing that business conditions are good will help to make them so.
But they are good whether anyone wants to believe it or not.

Thaw's trial has been put off until after Christmas. A most appropriate step.

A Home Application.

Mr. Bryan wants to ostracize the corporation which controls more than 50 per cent of the output in any line of production. But if he accepts three presidential nominations from the democratic party in twelve years he will himself be guilty of taking more than a 50 per cent share in that organization's political operations and national convention dividends.—New York Tribune.

Knocking the Kaiser.

Dr. Pierkowski, of Berlin, asserts that "virulent bacilli lurk in upcurling moustaches." Sounds suspiciously like lese majeste.—Omaha Bee.

The Poor Rich

The New York papers publish a full list of the owners of the boxes in the charmed horseshoe at the Metropolitan opera house who are expected to occupy them the coming season. It would be interesting to know about how large a proportion of them feel the pinch, but have to keep up appearances.—Boston Herald.

The Wrong Time.

This is really the wrong time for the heirs of George Washington to put in an appearance. At the most they would have to be contented with a clearing house certificate.—Chicago

exception of one piece of standing vention—and it may be worthy of note that none of them is a "dry"

Stringing the Consumer.

The thread trust announces net profits of $15,280,623 on the business of the past year. A dividend of 20 per cent with an additional bonus of 10 per cent will be paid to stockholdthread has made a smart increase in the revenues of the trust at the expense, in large part, of seamstresses.

RANDOM EXTRACTS

A Troop of Witnesses.

A story is told concerning a captain of cavalry in the old army days who was inclined to gaze too long upon the flowing bowl. He finally came to grief and was placed under arrest, charged with drunkenness.
The judge advocate who was sent to conduct the court martial was fond of the bluff old soldier, and in his heart hoped that he might be able to clear himself.

On the day of the trial the two, defendant and prosecutor, were talking.

"They have me at last," said the captain. "I do not see how I can clear myself."

"Have you no witnesses?" asked the judge advocate.

"None," replied the despondent officer.

"Suppose you call your first sergeant and ask him."

The first sergeant was duly called.

"Have I any witnesses?" asked the captain. The old Irishman was quite certain that the captain did have witnesses. He was dismissed with orders to bring the witnesses, equipped with side arms, to the captain's tent in a half hour. At the time appointed the sergeant stepped into the room,
saluted and reported:

"Sir, the troop is ready to be sworn."—Los Angeles Times.

Advice From Planchette.

David Bispham, the well known singer, tells the following remarkable story in this week's M. A. P.:

"One evening I was quietly sitting with two friends at a table on which was the little instrument known as planchette. One of my friends, a French gentleman of title, who, please note, was neither musical nor au fait in matters pertaining to the operative stage, manipulated the machine, which please note again, I did not touch in any way during the seance, if I may so call it.

"I asked planchette whether I should devote my attention to opera or concerts. The answer, plainly written, was: 'Opera, by all means.'
Then I asked, 'What operas?' It replied: 'Those by Verdi and Wagner.'
I requested the names of those I should study. It wrote immediately:
'Aida, Tristan, Die Meistersinger, and Tannhauser.'

"I was so deeply impressed by planchette's advice that the very next day I engaged an accompanist and set to work to study the operas and parts the oracle had recommended."—London Express.

The Cloudy Orchestra.

The family was gathered in the library admiring a splendid thunderstorm, when the mother bethought herself of Dorothy alone in the nursery. Fearing lest her little daughter should be awakened and feel afraid,
she slipped away to reassure her.
Pausing in the door, however, in a vivid flash of lightning, which illuminated the whole room, she saw her youngest olive branch sitting straight up in bed. Her big brown eyes were glowing with excitement and she clapped her chubby hands, while she shouted, encouragingly, "Bang it again, God! Bang it again!"—Brooklyn Life.

NEW SEDALIA THEATER.

"The Grand Mogul."

Local theater goers are promised the most delightful evening's entertainment that has been offered to them for a long time when Klaw & Erlanger present "The Grand Mogul" at the Sedalia theater Friday night.
"The Grand Mogul," which is the latest musical comedy by Pixley and Luders, whose former works, "The Burgomaster," "King Dodo," "Prince of Pilsen" and "Woodland," have made them famous throughout the United States in this particular line.
Klaw & Erlanger are conceded the most important theatrical producers and their "Ben Hur," "Prince of India" and big English Drury Lane spectacles have never been approached by any other stage productions of modern times. "The Grand Mogul" will come to this city with exactly the same big organization of 100 notable singers and comedians, and with all the gorgeousness of stage environment which enthralled Chicago and New York audiences all last season.
"The Grand Mogul," from all points of view, is a novelty unequalled in fascinating music, wholesome fun, quaint and piquant lyrics, and the most signal triumph achieved by its authors, from the day of their first musical comedy.

Walker Whiteside, "The Claim of Blood."

The liveliest of interest is being evinced in Walker Whiteside's appearance here in "The Claim of Blood" at the Sedalia theater next Saturday night. To the keen intellectuality of Richard Mansfield is united in Walker Whiteside the rarely penetrative sympathetic understanding of Sol Smith Russell. He has come to the front by leaps and bounds
the past year. This season he is under the splendid management of Liebler & Co., with such associate stars
as Eleanor Robson, Viola Allen, Mrs.
Patrick Campbell and William Faversham. A Liebler star or a Liebler attraction has a potential value of which the public is fully aware. It is the recognized hall mark of the atrical excellence. The firm has given Mr. Whiteside's play a superb stage mounting and a cast of exceptional ability. The players include Herbert Seers, Leslie Kenyon, Hubert Wilkie, Louis Grisel, Martha George,
Nora Lamson and Clara Blandick—each and all artists of made reputations in their profession.

UNIQUE THEATER.

The bill for the week, commencing Dec. 1, at the Unique theater is as follows: Miss Wayne Clatts, overture; Clever Conky, in grotesque juggling; Miss Majorie Mason, illustrated song, "Indeed." Miss Wava Cummings, who has made many friends with her singing, will be an extra feature to the regular bill; De Voy and Dayton sisters, one of the strongest acts in singing and dancing in vaudeville; the Bush Family, arealists and entertainers, is a head line act.

Ladies' souvenir matinee every Tuesday and Friday. A beautiful dish will be given to every lady attending the theater at these matinees.

WILL CASE SETTLED

End of Contest Over Famous Dentist's Estate—Museum Founded.

New York, Nov. 30.—Title deeds were filed today transferring to the Thomas W. Evans Museum and Institute society property valued at one million dollars. The filing of these deeds marks the end of the long litigation over the will of the man who was the friend of kings and queens.

Dr. Evans was born in Philadelphia in 1823 and studied dentistry.
In 1846 he located in Paris and from then until his death he was perhaps the most famous American in Europe.
He was not only dentist to Napoleon
III and his beautiful wife, the Empress Eugenie, but their intimate friends as well. When, September 4, 1870, the news came to Paris of the defeat of the armies under the emperor, the communa broke out, and the empress made haste to escape the city.

With a single companion she got as far as Dr. Evans' house, where she took refuge from the mobs. "There she was secreted and finally Dr. Evans took her in his own carriage, and succeeded in getting her out of the country and to the sea coast, where she took ship for England.

Dr. Evans died in 1897 and left the bulk of his fortune to found a museum and scientific institute. Numerous claimants sprang up, and it was not until recently that the estate was settled.

ment of the attorney was evidently forcibly felt by the defendant, who was so overcome that Judge Powers of her counsel moved his chair to her side to save her from falling forward.

Mr. Wells concluded his address with quotations from Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter," and declared that Arthur Brown himself was as much responsible for the fatal shot as was Annie Bradley because it was he who had caused to be planted within her the fatal disease that resulted in the shot.

"Whatsoever a man soweth, that also shall he reap," quoted the attorney as he took his seat.

The court then took a recess until Monday morning.

REGARDING RAILROADS

GOULD LINES' ASSISTANT TO THE VICE PRESIDENT, MR. J. M. JOHNSON.

COACH, CAB AND CARBOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

In the reorganization of the traffic department of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain system Mr. A. T. Stewart has been assigned as assistant to the vice president, Mr. J. M. Johnson retaining, however, his present title of assistant general freight agent with headquarters in St. Louis, says Saturday's St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Mr. Stewart has been connected with the freight traffic department of the Missouri Pacific for the past fifteen years, the last four and one-half years as assistant general freight agent. He was at one time private secretary to the freight traffic manager, and served both C. A. Parker and W. C. Stith in that capacity. The promotion is well merited.

Freight Traffic Manager Flippin announced yesterday the appointment of W. C. Staley as general agent of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain freight department in Chicago, succeeding J. N. Githens, who comes to St. Louis as general freight agent in charge of solicitation. Recently Mr. Staley has been traffic manager of the Western Grocery company in Chicago, and was formerly connected with the Rock Island at Kansas City.

Scores Judge for Big Fine.
In a signed statement E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe road, has taken Judge Wellborn of the United States court at Los Angeles to task for having fined the railroad the sum of $330,000 for payment of rebates. After giving a long explanation of the case to show that it was a mistake made by a clerk, and one of which the officers of the company were unaware, Mr. Ripley said: "Realizing that in this country the security of persons and property depends mainly upon our courts, it has been my rule not to make public any resentment or indignation I may have felt at judicial decisions, and in this case I believe the court to have erred from a misunderstanding of the conditions and not from a desire to be sensational."

If, without incentive, and without intent, he did under a strict technical construction violate the law to the extent of paying $400, should a company employing clerks the officers of which knew nothing of the transaction, be mulcted for $330,000? Does the punishment fit the crime?"

Engineers Urge Inspection.
Locomotive engineers of the west are behind a movement to secure federal inspection of railroad engines. They are appealing to members of congress to pass such a law.

The safety of railroad men and the public, as well as the saving of the nation's fuel, they assert, demands federal inspection.

Cut in the Shops' Force.
Effective today, 20 per cent of the number of men employed in the locomotive and car departments at the Missouri Pacific shops will be temporarily laid off, due to the financial stringency that is now confronting the company.

The number of men affected in the two departments will be about 100, eighty-five of these being in the locomotive department and fifteen in the car department, there being more laid off in the former shop on account of the much larger force employed there.

Would Be a Model Secretary.
Should J. W. McClain, city passenger and ticket agent for the Missouri Pacific, be selected as secretary of the Missouri state fair, for which position he is an applicant, no fair association in the United States would have a more competent secretary, and this is saying considerable.

Mr. McClain is fully equipped in every way to perform the duties of the important office in a model manner, and he would prove a worthy successor to Col. J. R. Rippey, who declines re-election.

HE'S GOING TO DENVER

Chas. W. Smith Has a Position With Colorado Southern.

Charles W. Smith, son of Mrs. Fannie Smith, of 410 West Fourth street, who was recently graduated from Hill's Business college, leaves tomorrow morning for Denver, Colo., where he has a good position on the Colorado Southern railway, under General Auditor J. H. Bradbury.

The position was secured for Charlie by Mr. Frank Trumbull, president of the Colorado Southern, and who in his younger days was connected with the M., K. & T. railroad in Sedalia.

To what department Charlie will be assigned will not be known until he reaches Denver. He is a first-class stenographer, a boy of excellent habits, and the Democrat-Sentinel feels confident that he will make his mark in the railway world.

WAS SPLENDID ATTRACTION

Fiske O'Hara Gave a Performance of Rare Merit Last Night.

Fiske O'Hara, in "Dion O'Dare," a romantic Irish drama, was the attraction at the Sedalia theater last night and gave a performance that won for him the highest praise from those fortunate enough to have been present. Mr. O'Hara has a fine stage presence, is an actor of ability and sings like a nightingale. The piece was staged with a lavishness that would put to shame some of the greatest exploited attractions that have appeared in Sedalia, while the costumes worn were examples of art. Those who failed to attend missed an evening of rare enjoyment.

BIG SCANDAL PROMISED

HART MCKEE TELLS ABOUT WHAT MAY DEVELOP IN DIVORCE CASE.

TALKS TO THE NEWSPAPER MEN

Report That Rich and Beautiful Wife Turned Him Out of Doors Confirmed—Case Up in Two Weeks.

Paris, Nov. 30.—A. Hart McKee, of Pittsburg, when seen today in 27 Quai D'Orsay, looked weary and worn as he carried his child in his arms. Even careful grooming could not conceal the ravages of mental suffering. The gorgeous apartments where he is living belong to an Italian friend, Prince Allata. Every day he visits his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sellers McKee, who are staying in the Hotel Ritz.

"M. Laborie, my counsel, told me to keep my mouth shut," he said in reply to a question by a correspondent. "Look at this fine baby boy."

"Your father-in-law, Gen. Baxter, says you are the worst man in France."

"Did he say even worse? Did he say I am the worst criminal in three countries? I am not sure he didn't say in three continents. Baxter talks too much. I am told he is talking all the time, like a garrulous old woman. Even some of the newspaper correspondents, compassionating his weakness, have advised him to stop. I am suing him for libel."

"Had he held his tongue and acted like a gentleman, I would have let him have his daughter without opposition. As it is, I am going to make a strenuous defense, and there will be the biggest scandal of the country. I know none to equal it. But Baxter has only himself to blame. A man has to use the weapons at his disposal in self-defense. If a scandal must come it is just as well to let the whole truth be known."

"I can not go into the details now," continued McKee. "M. Laborie has forbidden me. But the case comes up in two weeks. I have the child and the courts will confirm me in its custody."

"Is it true that Mrs. McKee turned you out of the house?"

It is, I had to leave our flat in the Rue Alfred Daubigny and also our chateau. Fortunately, my friend, Prince Allata, who belongs to an old Florentine family took me in and for some time I shall live here."

"Are you and your wife's family taking sides?"

"The Baxters are. My father and mother are here and are naturally interested, but they are here because they are getting ready to reside in Paris half of each year. My father has taken apartments in the Avenue Bois, opposite the Countess de Castellane's house. The talk about Pittsburg young men being the worst in the world is not well founded. They are neither better nor worse than fellows in similar circumstances all the world over."

McKee married the beautiful Mrs. Hugh Tevis, whose first husband, a Pacific coast multi-millionaire, died in their honeymoon. McKee is the son of a Pittsburg steel magnate.

IN THE BISHOP'S CARRIAGE

Miss Jessie Busley and An Excellent Company Very Enjoyable.

"In the Bishop's Carriage," at the Sedalia theater Friday night, was distinctively one of the best productions seen in Sedalia this season and gave genuine pleasure to every person in the audience. The story of the play is a most fascinating one and holds the closest attention of its auditors from the moment the curtain rises until the end and grows in interest with each succeeding scene. It is so far out of the beaten path of love dramas, and presents in addition to the heart interest, such as a strong psychological problem, that it absorbs every thought and compels rapt attention.

Miss Jessie Busley, who for three years has played the part of Nance Olden, was everything that could be asked or expected in her portrayal of the girl from the slums, who evolved herself into a charming and cultured woman.

Her attention to detail and the fineness of her toughness, as it might be termed, was perfect; not too much to disgust and just enough to reveal what she was and what her environment had been. At the last, after she had risen from the depths, the gentleness and tenderness of her bearing, with now and then a touch of the forgotten manner, was charming. Miss Olden's support was most excellent, each member of the cast ably seconding her efforts. One could wish for more plays such as "In the Bishop's Carriage."

20 YEARS FOR A "DOCTOR"

Mrs. Lucy Hagenow Had Long Been an Object of Attack in Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—"Doctor" Lucy Hagenow, almost 60 years old, was found guilty of murder today in Judge Chetlain's court and sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary. She was tried on a charge of causing the death of Mrs. Anna Horavitch. She had been previously convicted of a similar crime and sentenced to an indeterminate term in the penitentiary for manslaughter, but was paroled after serving a year.

Her removal to Joliet for twenty years removes from Chicago a woman who has long been a thorn to the police and the object of attack by reputable physicians and medical societies. It was stated in the closing arguments for the state that Mrs. Hagenow had practiced as a midwife in the United States for thirty-seven years, and had been the cause of 1,000 deaths.

Mrs. Hagenow was accused of having brought about the death of Miss Lola Maddison, a sister of Mrs. Bradley, who is being tried for the murder of ex-Senator Brown.

Miss Maddison's dying statement, used at the trial, was instrumental in bringing about a conviction. By a coincidence the Hagenow verdict was rendered on the closing day of the trial of Mrs. Bradley.

"A Clipping"

A December magazine says: "Dis-honest misrepresentation on the part of a salesman is treason against the fabric of confidence upon which all business rests. The distrust caused by such dishonesty is one of the heaviest burdens of loss under which the world of marketing labors." We have long known this and it is our reason, aside from the principle involved, we are always so particular about telling our patrons just exactly what they are buying. Deception for a while is easy in our business, but time invariably proves goods honest or dishonest.

and work was at once commenced on the new plant, which is now completed.

"For the past three years the Sedalia exchange has been operated at a loss, and some of the time at a very heavy one. This was partly on account of the unfavorable operating conditions just mentioned, but largely on account of too low a rate on residence telephones.

"Officers of the company discussed the raising of rates at several times, but each time agreed to continue operating at a loss until the new plant was finished and the company could give its patrons value received. This has now been accomplished, and hence the change which has been announced.

"In making this statement the company asks consideration of the following facts: It has bought a franchise from the city and paid $2,500 cash for it, and, in addition, it pays 2½ per cent of its gross receipts, amounting to over $800 a year into the city treasury.

"Wherever it has opened the streets for the purpose of laying conduits it has replaced pavements and lawns in such a manner that no trace of the work now appears. Its service has never been interrupted for a single minute, night or day, for many years.

gasoline engine in Kansas City, ship it to Sedalia by express and install it, all within ten hours in order to maintain the service, and we did it.

"If you will refer to section 7 of our franchise you will see that under the present conditions the ordinance permits us to charge $2 per month for residence service, while the advance announced is only $1.75, which rate we have figured will be sufficient under the present conditions. We now have 2,353 subscribers to the Sedalia exchange and 1,540 of them are affected by the advance.

"There has been no change made in the rates for business telephones, and under the ordinance there can be no advance until the number of telephones exceeds 3,000. We can still furnish good residence service for $1.25 per month to subscribers who will use party lines, and such service is by no means inferior. Excellent service can be had for $1.50 per month."

RECALLS A TRAGEDY

Court-Martial for Lieutenant Who Tried to Prevent a Suicide.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 30—Announcement is made that Lieut. Edward P. Roelker, of the United States marine corps, is to be court-martialed on charges supposed to have grown out of the killing of Lieut. James V. Sutton October 13, last. The details of the charges are being kept secret.

On the night in question Lieut. Sutton, Lieut. Roelker and Lieut. R. E. Adams were returning to their quarters in the naval academy grounds from a ball. Suddenly, so the story goes, Lieut. Sutton drew a revolver from his pocket and pointed it at his head. Roelker and Adams seized him and the pistol was discharged. Roelker receiving a wound in the chest, which was not serious, and the bullet clipping Adams' finger. Then, according to the story, Sutton drew a second revolver and, before his friends could interfere, shot himself dead.

THE CHECK WAS BOGUS

It Was Cashed by Will DeBoid, of the "Windor" Bar.

A check for $10.00 on the Third National bank and bearing the forged signature of T. H. Johnson was passed successfully by a man named Jas. Carnews on Will DeBoid at the Windor bar Thursday night.

Carnews, who is about 45 years old, weighs about 225 pounds and wears a black mustache, entered the saloon in company with two Missouri Pacific shopmen with whom Mr. DeBoid was acquainted.

After cashing the check Carnews left, and later it was discovered that the check was a forgery.

FALL OF AN ELEVATOR

Two Killed and Six Injured in a Chicago Accident.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Two men were killed and six persons injured today when a passenger elevator fell ten floors in the store of Edenheimer, Stein & Co., clothiers, 204 Jackson boulevard.

As the car left the tenth floor on a downward trip the cable parted and the cage plunged downward, striking the bottom of the shaft with terrific force. Most of the occupants were employees of the firms in the building and were leaving for the luncheon hour.

A fire alarm was turned in and two companies responded and assisted in the work of rescue.

Secured Big Contract.

The contract for the tin roofing and metal work for the new Methodist church at Warrensburg was awarded yesterday to the Knight-Marshall Hardware company, of this city. Mr. Eliza Clark, foreman of this department of the company's business, figured on the job and will have charge of the work. This is one of the largest contracts of this character given out in this section for some time and that a Sedalia firm was successful in securing it speaks much for their enterprise.

People afflicted with diseases of the nose, throat, lungs and the mucous membranes in general are getting relief with the inhalation treatment in Dr. Camp's office, and complete restoration of health has resulted in many cases.

DOUMA HAD WARM TIME

Reactionaries Attempted to Drag a Speaker From the Tribune.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 30.—The session of the douma today, which was devoted to a continuation of the debate on the declaration of the government, presented by Premier Stolypin yesterday, broke up in a riot. The reactionaries assaulted Fedor I. Roditcheff, orator of the constitutional democrats, and attempted to drag him from the tribune in order to end his vitriolic attack on the government.

Premier Stolypin and cabinet members witnessed the demonstration and departed when it became evident that the howling mob had no intention of allowing the session to proceed.

M. Roditcheff, in a ringing speech, in which he was constantly interrupted by applause or jeers, was eulogizing the hundreds of victims of drumhead court-martial, and when he referred to the officials of the government as hangmen a hundred reactionaries, led by Vladimir Purishkevitch, monarchist, and two priests, stormed the tribune.

President Khomyakoff, after vainly ringing his bell for order, abandoned the chair and declared the sitting closed. The constitutional democrats and social democrats charged to the rescue of M. Roditcheff, who was being roughly handled. They formed a phalanx around him and bore him, still shouting defiance, to one corner of the hall. The tumult continued for fully half an hour until the party leaders succeeded in withdrawing their followers to the committee rooms for consultation.

AGED MAN IS DEAD

Charles A. McNair, Grandfather of Sedalians, Passed Away in St. Louis.

The Globe-Democrat of Saturday had the following account of the death of Charles A. McNair, of St. Louis. Mr. McNair was the father-in-law of W. D. Hefpfritz, of this city, and grandfather of Mel and Will Hefpfritz.

Charles A. McNair, 76 years old, president of the St. Louis Blast Furnace company, died at his home, 4244 McPherson avenue, late Thursday night. His son and daughter and several friends in an adjoining room were not aware of his death until about ten minutes had elapsed. They had been going in and out of the room during the evening and did not think his illness was serious. He died of heart trouble.

Mr. McNair had been a resident of St. Louis for forty years. He was first connected with the William Spear Tobacco Co. When the company ceased business Messrs. McNair and Spear went into the pig iron business, purchasing the old furnace owned and operated by the Pilot Knob people in Carondelet, which later was known as the Blast Furnace company.

He was born in Pennsylvania, and when he came to Missouri settled at Glasgow. His father taught school at Fayette, Mo. for a number of years. During the civil war Mr. McNair was a member of the state militia and was known to Glasgow as Major McNair. He will be buried

OTHER GOULD CHANGES

REORGANIZATION OF THE INTERNATIONAL AND GREAT NORTHERN.

RECENT RUMORS KNOCKED SILLY

Mr. Horace W. Clarke Succeeds Mr. LeRoy Trice as Vice President of Strategic Property in the State of Texas.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 30.—George J. Gould has now extended his reorganization policy from the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain system to the International & Great Northern, a strategic road, which is regarded as being his personal property.

Le Roy Trice, vice president of the International & Great Northern, has, after visiting Mr. Gould in New York city, resigned his office, effective on January 1, and he will be succeeded by Horace W. Clarke, brother to the vice president of the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain system.

The International & Great Northern connects with the national lines of Mexico at Laredo, forming the principal central route from Texas to the City of Mexico. It runs from Laredo to Longview, Texas, where it connects with Gould's Texas and Pacific, which it connects with the Iron Mountain, and also from Fort Worth and Palestine to Galveston and Velasco, on the coast of the Gulf of Mexico. George J. Gould personally holds control of the International & Great Northern, the headquarters of which are at Palestine, Texas.

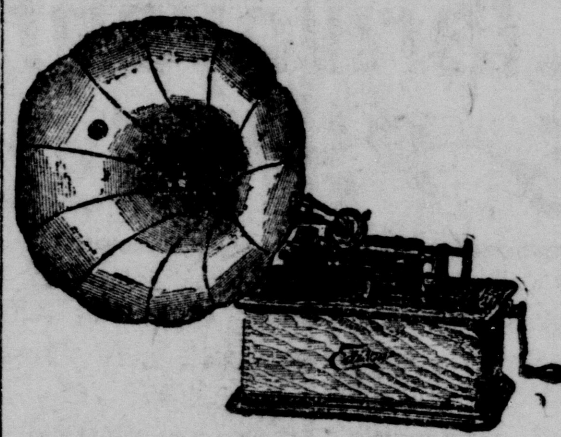

The appointment of Horace W. Clarke to the vice presidency of the International & Great Northern as successor to Le Roy Trice, is significant from several standpoints. It indicates that Mr. Gould desires to show, in an emphatic manner, that the reports as to his supposed dissatisfaction with the vice president of the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain are unfounded; that even closer relations will exist henceforth between the Gould connecting lines and that Mr. Gould is taking a more active interest in his railroads.

Several months ago it was reported in the east and the southwest that Mr. Trice might succeed C. S. Clarke as vice president of the Missouri Pacific system. Now, however, it develops that Horace W. Clarke, a brother to the head of the Missouri Pacific lines, will succeed Mr. Trice as vice president of the International & Great Northern.

The new vice president of the International & Great Northern is superintendent of transportation of the Mobile & Ohio, which position he resigned last week, effective on December 31. He is a son of J. C. Clarke, former president of the Illinois Central and the Mobile & Ohio. He has been with the Mobile & Ohio about twenty years, and some time ago was superintendent of the St. Louis division.

Mr. Trice was called to New York city several days ago for a conference with Mr. Gould. He tendered his resignation yesterday. He entered the Gould service in 1873, as superintendent of construction on the Texas & Pacific, and has been vice president of the International & Great Northern since 1897.

It is said, with some humor, that this year's trip abroad has had an

A PASTOR RISKED LIFE

REV. DR. J. H. CLARK'S ARTERIES CONNECTED WITH THOSE OF PATIENT.

MRS. LADSON'S LEG IS AMPUTATED

Suffered From Blood Poisoning and New Infusion Renewed Her Strength—The Operation Was a Success.

New York, Nov. 30.—Rev. Dr. John Lewis Clark, who married William E.H.S. Corey and Mabelle Gilman, risked his own life to save a woman's. Bound fast to Mrs. Julia Ladson, one of his small arteries connected with one of her's, he let the blood from his body surge into her veins for two hours while her right leg was being amputated close to the hip. The operation was performed in the Bushwick hospital, Brooklyn.

Mrs. Ladson was suffering from an acute case of blood poisoning. Dr. Clark was warned that if the smallest drop of her blood passed into his system it might prove fatal, but was told that unless he took the risk there was not one chance in a thousand of saving her life.

"The Almighty was trying me, and, thank God, I was not recreant to the trust," he said yesterday, after refusing to discuss his experience until he learned that all of the circumstances were known. "If I did not make good," he added, "and the poor woman had died, I would feel that I was no longer fit to be in the ministry."

Thanks to the infusion of blood from Dr. Clark, Mrs. Ladson is very likely to recover. Had he declined to take the risk of blood poisoning, she could not have survived the operation more than two hours, according to Drs. William Campbell and F. H. Clark, who removed the woman's leg.

Dr. Clark had been praying with Mrs. Ladson and her husband and was leaving the hospital when the crisis suddenly faced him. A member of Mrs. Ladson's family had agreed to submit to the transfusion of blood, and physicians from all parts of the city were waiting to witness one of the most remarkable operations ever performed in New York. Mrs. Ladson was being brought under the influence of an anesthetic and the operating instruments were freshly sterilized and ready for use.

But, with everything awaiting his arrival, the man who was to have given his blood failed to appear. Mr. Ladson eagerly offered to give his blood for his wife, but the physicians told him that he had none to spare. What was needed was a vigorous man whose strong, fresh blood would send new life into the patient's heart, which was beating so slowly as to be almost still.

Dr. Clark was an ideal subject. He weighs nearly 200 pounds, and his bodily vigor is shown by his recent winning of the Forest Park golf trophy. Drs. Campbell and Clark looked at him and each other, but neither had the heart to suggest such a sacrifice. He knew of the patient's peril, however, and without thought of the danger he was running volunteered to subject himself to the operation.

"You do not realize the risk you are taking," he was told. "If one drop of her blood gets into your veins it may cause your death. But, if, realizing what you are doing, you are still willing to run the chance we cannot but accept your offer."

In a few moments a nurse had shaved his right wrist. He was bound to an operating table beside Mrs. Ladson, and Dr. Campbell at once began the operation of blood transfusion. The surgeon made an incision in Dr. Clark's wrist several inches long and half an inch deep. Forcing the tendons aside, he caught hold of the artery and lifted it to the surface.

"I cannot conceive of more intense pain than I suffered," said Dr. Clark, "but there could be no drawing back then. I do not say that I would not have acted just as I did if I had known what was coming, but I had no idea that there was anything more to the operation than connecting our arteries by some sort of a hollow needle."

A similar operation had been performed on the patient's right wrist. The outer ends of both arteries had been bound tight with catgut, while their arms were bound tightly above the elbows to check the flow of blood. An attempt was first made to sew the ends of the severed arteries together, so as to permit of a direct transfusion, but just as the stitches were put in Mrs. Ladson moved and they were all torn away.

A silver tube was then tried. The free end of Dr. Clark's artery was attached to one end of the tube and the other was inserted into the patient's opened blood vessel. The bands on their upper arms were removed and without further accident the process of transfusion was continued until the patient's leg had been amputated.

MEAT PRICES "SOARING"

THIS, TOO, DESPITE THE LOW PRICE OF LIVE STOCK IN CHICAGO.

40 PER CENT SLUMP IN THE LATTER

Comparative Figures Show Either Packers or Retailers are Gouging—Fractional Reductions to Consumers.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Investigation shows that no matter whether the packers or the retailers are right in the controversy as to which is responsible for present prices of meat, the public is suffering from excessive prices that are not warranted by conditions.

The packers contend that they have reduced prices to a degree consistent with the reduced prices of cattle, hogs and sheep at the stock yards. One class of retailers contends that this is not true—that the wholesale prices to them have not been reduced.

Another class declares both wholesale and retail prices have been reduced materially, but the figures gathered from the markets do not bear out this statement.

Meat on the hoof shows reductions ranging from 10 to 30 per cent. Retail meat shows increases in some instances and, except in porterhouse steaks, no reduction of more than a fraction of one cent a pound.

These figures show what meat is costing the packers on the hoof, as compared with a year ago:

Call for Coachman Draws Army of Hopefuls to 3263 Morganford Road, Only to Be Told No One Was Wanted.

"Coachman Wanted—Wanted, a coachman; $45 per month. Apply from 4 to 8 p. m. today at 3263 Morganford road."

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 30.—This little ad., inserted in the columns of a daily paper yesterday by some practical joker, caused more sorrow and travail than perhaps the joker ever thought it would. To him it was a joke; to hundreds of others it was bread and life.

By noon Thanksgiving day the Morganford yard began to fill with hungry looking men who fought with one another to be nearest the door to be able to first see the person who desired the coachman.

While they stood, shivering in the yard, swept by the biting November winds, they were informed that the whole affair was a joke. No coachman had been advertised for by any one in that house.

Many left the yard without a penny in pocket to pay fare to distant homes.

This was their Thanksgiving, to be taunted and made fun of by some cruel joker. Perhaps there were mothers, sisters, and hungry-eyed little children who awaited with hope the return of the bread winner.

But his return, if he had the fare to get back, soon was to be sadder than his departure, and cast a darker shadow over the day of Thanksgiving, 1907.

An old negro named Henry Nelson, who had been out of employment for many months, borrowed his car fare from a prominent St. Louis family, by whom his father before him was employed, to go to the Morganford residence. He arrived there early and waited with a crowd of men who were there even before him.

Pushed and jostled from side to side, he could not even get very far into the yard. And then the bitter blow, a joke!

Many men came over from Belleville and towns near East St. Louis to seek the position.

'Twas Another Thornton.

The report sent out from Marshall, one day the past week, that the two sons of J. M. Thornton were being tried for taking the nine days' old child of their sister and leaving the infant with a negress, was a mistake. The boys tried were not the sons of J. M. Thornton, but some other Thornton living in Saline county.

J. M. Thornton formerly lived near Wanamaker, but is now living at Blue Lick, and carries the rural route mail out of that place. He has no sons, but has daughters, and the report sent out from Marshall was calculated to injure his family, which is among the very best in Saline county.

WAS DEPORTED AS A 'RED'

FOREMAN'S SLAYER HAS BEEN IDENTIFIED AS RANK ANARCHIST.

KILLING OCCURRED IN ST. LOUIS

Murderer Was Once Sent to Austria, But He Eluded the Authorities and Then Returned to America.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 30.—Dr. Frank S. Whempley, of the St. Louis insane asylum staff, has identified Ernest Hradadly, 25 years old, slayer of William Schramek, a foreman in the St. Louis Car company's plant in Baden, as a man deported to Austria as a dangerous character by the United States government a year ago.

Hradadly shot Schramek a week ago today because the latter had discharged him the night before. The shooting, witnesses said, was unprovoked.

Dr. Whempley visited the holdover at the Four Courts Friday afternoon with Sergeant Thomas Conlon. As they entered Hradadly shouted: "Hello, Doc!"

Dr. Whempley recognized Hradadly as a former inmate of the St. Louis asylum. He said he was regarded as dangerous because of homicidal tendencies aggravated by anarchistic views.

Hradadly told the doctor he had eluded the Austrian authorities, reached a seaport and sailed for America.

Here, instead of entering by way of New York, he re-embarked on a coast steamer and went to Galveston, where he had no difficulty in landing and working his way to St. Louis by rail.

A CHAPTER ON FASHIONS

JEANETTE M. WALSH'S WEEKLY LETTER TO THE "DEMOCRAT-SENTINEL."

THE FANCY DRESS COSTUME NOW

Pretty Suits for Those Who Play Golf—The Skating Costume May Be Handsome or Plain—Other Pointers on Fashions.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, Nov. 30.—The season is at hand for the preparation of the fancy dress costume. From now on till the days of Lent, and especially during the holiday season, will such attire be in demand and new ideas are always in favor of its development.

Characters from books are an old but never failing source for the "character costume," and no writer presents a more varied range of subject or more details for their make up than the novelist, Charles Dickens. A costume that created a great deal of laughter in a recent "book masquerade" was that of Betsy Trotwood, a cane in one hand and a picture of a donkey in the other, or more fun could be created if a boy companion would dress to represent the donkey.

One of the "sporty" boys, fond of hunting, used the word Orion. On the breast of his velvet doublet was embroidered a representation of the constellation of Orion. In his hand or in his belt was a toy club and on his shoulders hung the traditional lion's skin.

Many other mythological characters are good copy for the "character costume," such as Ceres, Diana, Mercury and many others.

History furnishes us with many an idea, and old prints, histories or contemporaneous writings of the period to be found in our public libraries, give us many a good description.

I saw several costumes not long ago which were being prepared for a private masquerade party. One noticeable dress is to be worn by a young Canadian, who will pose as "Our Lady of the Snows," the idea being taken from one of Kipling's poems.

The young woman who will wear it is tall and slight, and the princess gown, which is made en train, is laid in voluminous folds from the tight fitting back, and the front is draped with Greek folds. The material is a watered silk of a peculiar light blue, having a grayish tinge shading off into white to represent the ice of Canada's frozen rivers.

Around the bottom of the skirt is a band of fluffy white fur which runs up in curves, bands of fur outline the folds which run up the shoulders and it forms capes over the arms. A white chiffon yoke, collar and cuffs are added to the dress, and the hood which is a part of the costume, is of the chiffon trimmed with fur.

On the left shoulder is a large golden star set with three diamonds and from the top of the hood are streamers of yellow ribbons to represent the Aurora Borealis. The mask is of dark blue panne velvet, the slippers have tops to represent white moccasins, and a white fur muff completes the costume. A brother of this young Canadian was dressed as a French Canadian voyageur.

Another costume being prepared by the same dressmaker is Madame Butterfly. The matron who will carry out the plan is dark and round of face, and will give due attention to all the Japanese details, but the distinguishing feature of the dress is the embroidery of beautiful butterflies, especially the kimono sleeves. The same idea could be carried out in a less expensive way by using a tarleton over dress covered with painted butterflies, which need not be the work of an artist, for the ordinary painting done on linen is all that is necessary, or if this is beyond the talent of the wearer pretty butterflies can be made of crepe or tissue paper.

All the new plays and operas suggest new characters as well as new books, and often add a good deal of interest or amusement to the evening by the guess work they create or suggestive ideas for conversation.

A domino is quite an essential for such evening affairs and indeed may be the whole costume. It has one advantage in that a regular evening dress may be worn beneath it, and upon unmasking is laid aside. The best pattern for a domino dress is a kimono and it may serve as a useful bit of wearing apparel, even "after the ball is over," a thing not always possible with many of the other costumes.

The masks may carry out the character representations of they may be of black velvet almost entirely covering the face or only partially doing so.

My Apparel for Men

Is a potent builder of the bond of confidence.

Between buyer and seller, confidence—absolute and unqualified—is a primary essential.

We regard integrity of workmanship of no less importance than quality of fabrics. A chain being no stronger than its weakest link makes it imperative that there be "no weak links."

Satisfaction to wearers of apparel identified with the Weisburgh label is assured by many safeguards, much watchfulness, and care for detail.

There seems, therefore, much ground for my contention that an organization as skilled as my own may promise service almost perfect.

sports are now busy planning their dress for such pleasures.

A suit for golf was delivered not long since that embraced comfort, adaptability and picturesque effects. The material was of gray worsted, not too dark, showing a fine invisible check over run with black hair lines and flecks of crimson. The skirt used five gores in its construction, which is in short length, but cut with a flare that gives plenty of room about the ankles. The shaping of the coat was on box lines, the length being in thirty-three inch style. The coat sleeves were plain at the wrist and the notched collar was of a material inlaid with black velvet. Very large roomy pockets were applied on the sides.

The blouse worn underneath was in sailor style, large and easy in its fitting, so that the arms might have plenty of play. Many women like a suit consisting of a plaited skirt and sweater. Oxford tweed is a good material for such a skirt and may be given a bright touch by the use of stitching in red silk. The blouse worn will be of the plainest tailored description and the sweater worn will be red of heavy woolen, double knitted. The red velvet or gray tann should have a visor to protect the eyes from the sun while playing. Heavy gloves of dog skin will be worn and the regular golf boots. Be sure that the underwear is sufficiently warm with this suit.

The skating costume may be a very handsome suit or extremely plain, according to the company or place it is to be worn in. A suitable costume to be worn is one of the skating clubs in a city park was

A new coat intended to broaden the shoulders and give the wearer length was made from blue serge. The back is close in fit and gracefully adjusted under the arms, but the front extended down into a decided point at the center front. The sleeve caps that extend over the full upper sleeve to the tight cuff are cut as part of the body portion. All edges and the seams are decorated with an inch wide silk braid, and four fancy jet buttons decorate each side of the front closing. The closing is single breasted and so cut it discloses a fancy vest and dress yoke above.

Rain coats are a necessary and as much worn adjunct of the wardrobe as ever. It is to be noted that the new redingotes have an influence upon rain coats, which are closer at the waist, and instead of belts there is a decided tendency to the waist and skirt construction. For a great many women the redingote is a far better garment, because of its close fit, its long lines and dressier appearance, and if one must economize one would better choose the redingote.

The vogue of the plaited skirt still continues and all materials save the most heavy are used in its construction.

We are said to be threatened with bone waists, which will be sorrowful news to the slight girls, for a boned waist without drapery is to her hideous.

The shirt waist intended for shopping or morning wear is a strictly tailored affair, and are entirely plain or a few tucks only being permissible.

The circular skirts are becoming more and more pleasing and are an attractive change to the long vogue of the plaited models.

Height and slenderness are two absolute requisites in the new coats. The over blouse continues in favor in many variations. Sometimes separate, sometimes as a part of the bodice.—Jeanette M. Walsh.

developed from black velvet and fur. The skirt of velvet consists of four pieces, a seam being in the center of the front with a box plait on each side of it; an inverted plait is made at the seam at each side and at the back and the closing may be arranged at any of these seams as may be preferred. The adjustment is perfectly smooth at the top but widens toward the lower edge, where it measures in medium sizes with the plaits drawn out about four yards and three-fourths.

Of course, all skating dresses are in short length. A white silk blouse, tailored, is worn with high collar and bright tie. The black caracul coat come a little below the hips, tight fitting in the back but loose in front. The turn-over collar is deep and may be turned up about the neck for greater warmth. A caracul cap is worn with this costume, decorated with a bress and tail. The gloves are of chamois, fleeced lined.

A most inexpensive dress could be made with a skirt of broadcloth, serge or worsted in any bright color, red or crimson being a favorite for skating, and the coat could be of fur, plush or imitation fur of some kind, such as seal or zebeline.

An automobile costume was of English serge in Bordeaux red, trimmed with soutache braid. The skirt is formed of three sections, plaited, which overlap and are joined in tuck effect, the middle one extending almost to the lower edge.

The blouse is of silk, matching the color of the skirt. It is made upon a foundation with a straight, shallow yoke, back and front of dyed lace; the fronts and back are tucked a short distance from the yoke and then gathered under a crush belt.

The sleeves are full to the deep cuff of alternating bands of silk and lace and three tucks decorate the upper portion of the sleeves from shoulders to cuffs. The coat is of black fox, rather close fitting, double breasted in fifty-inch length.

The hat is a small turban of black velvet, trimmed with black and white hackle feathers. Over all is drawn a veiled hood of chiffon silk which completely protects the hair, ears and face. Fur over shoes are worn, and the gloves are fleece lined, with fur cuffs.

The golf cape, while still liked by many women, is rather displaced by the full wraps of the kimono order, and are as serviceable over other coats or wraps because of their bigness as the golf cape itself. The wraps are to be found in all the heavier as well as lighter materials in almost any color or design, but for sports, traveling or driving, the heavy serges, worsteds, oxfords or tweeds are best.

A "Tacky" Party Friday Night.

Missouri council No. 23, Pocahontas degree, Red Men, gave a truly enjoyable "tacky" party Friday night, the prizes being awarded to the following: Miss Margaret Edwards as "Miss Ophelia," in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," ladies' first prize, and S. R. Clinton, who personated a tramp, the gentlemen's first prize, the latter being closely crowded by W. L. Brummet as a "printer's devil," and Will A. Cue, as "Paddy From Ireland." Dancing was indulged in, and dainty refreshments were served.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee Imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it, either. Health Coffee Imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. R. C. Dolph & Co.

THE WINTER TO BE MILD

If Fuel Pile is Small You'll Be Glad to Read What Follows.

According to the goose bone prognosticator, the coming winter will be a very mild one.

Harry Johnson, a former Altor, Ill., iceman, who has relied for fifty years on the goose bone, says that the bone this year shows but one cold snap, and that will be toward the latter part of the winter.

Other weather prophets say the slime on fish is not so heavy, the shrubs on corn are thinner and the buds on the trees are not so heavily wrapped as they would be if the weather was to be cold.

There is something about Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup that makes it different from others, as it causes a free yet gentle action of the bowels through which the cold is forced out of the system. At the same time it heals irritation and allays inflammation of the throat and lungs. It is pleasant to take. Children like it. Contains no opiates nor narcotics. Sold by Arlington Pharmacy.

SAVED TWO BROTHERS FROM DEATH Extract from a letter written by Mr. Chas. Burnett, of Chicago, Ill.: "You will find among your records, that my brother, Ed. Burnett, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, had Consumption, was treated by you, and effectually cured."

I was so far gone with Consumption that the doctors gave me up to die. I returned to my old home at Grand Rapids and went under the treatment of a physician who was said to be a specialist in Pulmonary diseases. He treated me for some time, but I did not feel I was making the progress I anticipated. Then, remembering your brother's case, I began taking your treatment and continued it until I say here, that were it not for your medicine, I do not believe I would be alive today."

UNCLE SAM TO CONTROL

COMMISSION IS TO REGULATE IF INTERSTATE FREIGHT IS CARRIED.

DECISION OF THE FEDERAL COURT

Appeal Judges Reverse Case of Colorado Railroad—John F. Phillips Dissents in Sarcastic References.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 30.—In a sweeping decision handed down here yesterday the United States circuit court of appeals holds that any railroad wholly within a state, but carrying goods consigned from a point in another state is subject to the interstate commerce law and regulation by the interstate commerce commission.

The decision was given in the case of the United States against the Colorado and Northwestern Railroad Co., which owns a narrow gauge road of forty miles in Boulder county, Colorado.

The government sued the railroad to recover penalties for failure to have airbrake equipment on freight cars, which is required under the interstate commerce act. The United States district court for Colorado, before which the case was tried, directed the jury to bring in a verdict for the railroad. The court of appeals reverses the decision of the lower court and directs a new trial.

As some view the ruling, if the opinion stands, it gives notice to the states that practically every railroad in the United States, even if wholly within a state and not controlled by a railroad of another state, is under the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission. Yesterday's decision plainly states the federal government's regulation to be paramount to that of the state.

The majority decision is given by Judge Walter H. Sanborn, of St. Paul, and Judge Willis Van Devanter, of Cheyenne, Wyo. In a dissenting opinion in which he stands strongly for states' rights, Judge John F. Phillips, of Kansas City says:

"The philanthropic feature of this prosecution is but the rose in the mailed hand." Judge Phillips' opinion contains several sarcastic references.

ences. In conclusion Judge Phillips states:

"The right of the state to grant charters whose functions are to be exercised solely within the territorial limits of its sovereignty is unquestionable. So long as it exercises only the powers granted and performs only the functions incident to its creation, it is not subject to the supervision or interference of the federal government."

GIVES PROMPT RELIEF

PRESCRIPTION WHICH ELDERLY PEOPLE SHOULD VALUE HIGHLY, AS IT IS GOOD.

ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS TO USE

Promptly Relieves All Forms of Kidney and Bladder Trouble and Rheumatism, and Can Be Mixed at Home.

The great majority of men and women at the age of 50 years begin to feel the first signs of advancing age in some form of kidney trouble and bladder weakness. Few are entirely free from that tortuous disease, rheumatism, which is not a disease in itself, but a symptom of deranged function of the kidneys, which have become clogged and sluggish, failing in their duty of sifting and straining the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, permitting it to remain and decompose, settling about the joints and muscles, causing intense pain and suffering.

The bladder, however, causes the oldfolds the most annoyance, especially at night and early morning. A noted authority in a recent article stated that he has wonderful success with the old-time "vegetable treatment." He states: "Of sixteen cases of bladder troubles and rheumatism which have been treated with this treatment only one very complicated case failed to fully yield to its remarkable influence. It is the most harmless treatment I have ever found to clean the system of rheumatic poisons; remove irritation of the bladder and relieve urinary difficulties of the old people. It is a true vitalizing tonic to the entire kidney and urinary structure, reinvigorating the entire system."

What he terms "old vegetable treatment" consists of the following simple prescription, the ingredients of which can be obtained from any good pharmacy at small cost: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and upon going to bed, also drink plenty of water.

This prescription, though simple, is always effective in the diseases and afflictions of the kidneys and bladder.

Funeral services were held in the Christian church Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock over the body of J. M. Motz, who died in Nevada Sunday, November 24th. The service was in charge of Rev. Diggs, of the Methodist church. The deceased was in the sixty-first year of his life and had resided near Houstonia for a number of years. Mr. Meyers is a prominent business man of Kansas City, to which place the couple will go to reside immediately after the wedding.

Another Sweet Springs girl who will soon become a bride is Miss Jennie Harwood, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mariaduke Harwood, who on Saturday, December 7, 1907, will be married to Mr. Cecil Lee Shepard, of Kansas City. Her many friends throughout this section, who knew her through babyhood, childhood and young ladyhood, wish for her life's choicest blessings.

A unique social function was given by Miss Bess Nelson Wednesday afternoon in compliment to Miss Jennie Harwood. The charming hostess stated to her friends that the sole object of the entertainment was to announce the approaching marriage of Miss Harwood, but later developments showed that there was another. At the conclusion of the delightful party for Miss Harwood, as the guests were leaving, Mrs. E. L. Spurgeon was stationed at the outside door with a tray of English walnuts, from which the contents had been removed and a tiny cardboard heart inserted, then the shells were refastened with dainty ribbons. One nut was given each departing guest, and Mrs. Spurgeon stated that it was a little secret in a nutshell, and asked that they not be opened until the guests reached home. But the curiosity of woman is proverbial, and before the outer pavement was reached the secret was out of the nutshell. The little heart inside was inscribed with the following: "Elizabeth Lee Nelson, John Elliot Rowland, December 26th, 1907." The guests returned in a body to the house and the hostess was showered with congratulations and good wishes. There has never been a more popular girl in Sweet Springs society than Miss Nelson. She has a large circle of friends here, as well as in Sedalia, California, Tipton, St. Louis and Kansas City, who know her to possess all those qualities of mind and body which go to make up the highest type of young womanhood. Mr. Rowland is with a wholesale drug house in San Antonio, Texas, where he is highly spoken of, as well as in Dallas, where he has had business connections.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, Nov. 30.—The democratic national committee will assemble in Washington on December 12th, to determine the time and place for the national convention to meet and select the candidates for the presidency and vice presidency. Thus far Denver appears to be the choice of the committee, although Kansas City, Chicago and Louisville are making strong bids for the convention. Which ever city is successful, it seems to be practically a foregone conclusion that William Jennings Bryan will be the nominee, as while several other names are being mentioned, none of the other aspirants appear to have anything like the strong claims to the position that are being advanced by the friends of the Nebraskan.

A number of national committee-men, heretofore opposed to Bryan, have become reconciled to him, and are confident that if he will forget his recent utterances concerning government ownership and make the tariff the issue, his chances for winning over any one put up by the republican party are excellent.

In fact, it is felt that there never was a finer opening for the democratic party at the approach of a presidential election year than it now has. The republican party has won again and again because the business interests of the country felt more confidence in it than they did in the democratic party.

Now, however, the business men are in great measure out of sympathy with the present administration, and even if Mr. Roosevelt be not nominated, the candidate for his party will in all probability be named by him, which is regarded as the same thing.

Democratic national committeemen representing practically the entire middle west and part of the east at a recent meeting went over the whole political situation and concluded that the only issue on which they could meet the republican party is the tariff. Therefore, it looks very much now as if it will be Bryan and the tariff for the democratic presidential campaign of 1908. Little attention is being paid to such booms as that started in the interest of Judge George Gray, of Delaware, particularly as the states are gradually coming into line for Bryan, the latest addition to the ranks being Iowa, which has already pledged itself to his candidacy.

The contest for the republican presidential nomination, at least in so far as New York state is concerned, appears to be narrowing down to Governor Hughes and Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou, both of whom have very strong followings. The attitude of President Roosevelt is regarded, even by some of his closest political friends, as decidedly puzzling; nevertheless his recent order forbidding federal officeholders to work for his nomination or to accept election as Roosevelt delegates to the republican national convention may be accepted as a determination on his part to adhere to his refusal to become a third term candidate.

Perhaps the several open attacks that have lately been made upon the chief executive, some of which have come from men heretofore among his most loyal supporters, have made the president sit up and take notice. Whatever the cause, there is nothing like the popular clamor that there was to again place Mr. Roosevelt at the head of the ticket.

His known antipathy toward Governor Hughes may be counted upon to prevent, if possible, the latter's nomination, while his friendship for George B. Cortelyou may likewise be counted upon to bring about the selection of the secretary.

With these two candidates growing stronger every day, the fight in this state promises to be a pretty one, and the outcome is awaited with great interest as probably foreshadowing the result when the republican national convention meets.

Because of the growing business depression, which, it is reliably estimated, has already resulted in the laying off of fully 200,000 workmen in various parts of the country, a great deal of interest converges in the financial situation, and it is thoroughly understood that it is owing to the recent disturbances in the banking world that all this trouble has been brought about.

That the administration at Washington has finally become fully aroused to prevailing conditions and has seen the necessity of adopting measures to correct the evil is demonstrated by the recent visit of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan and other leading bankers to President Roosevelt. This conference has already resulted in partially restoring confidence, and it is hoped that further good may come of it, but it is likewise felt that in order to prevent the recurrence of any such happening world that all this trouble has been brought about.

penings as have taken place in the last few weeks measures looking toward a change in our currency system will have to be adopted.

It is understood, with the aid of many of our most prominent bankers, the president is now working in that direction, and if they succeed in establishing a more stable currency which will prevent in the future such great business upheavals as we have had in the past, the panic which we are just now emerging from will not be wholly without its blessings.

Nowhere has the panic been more severely felt than in Wall street, which of course is quite natural, in view of the fact that it is the great money center of the country.

Seats on the New York stock exchange, which in the early part of last year sold as high as $95,000 each, can now be bought for about $51,000, and, in addition to this, many stock exchange firms are discharging clerks by the wholesale, as well as closing up branch offices throughout the country.

It is a remarkable coincidence, though none the less true, that while business on the New York stock exchange has suffered so much, that on the Consolidated stock exchange, known as the "Little Board," shows up exceedingly well.

This, no doubt, is accounted for by the fact that practically all the buying of stocks now being indulged in is by investors in small lots. These investors are beginning to realize that the Consolidated stock exchange possesses advantages for dealing in fractional amounts of stocks not to be obtained elsewhere; moreover, they have become very strongly impressed with the manner in which the

"Little Board" weathered the recent financial storm.

In several instances the mining industry, which naturally felt the effect of the recent monetary disturbances, is beginning to show distinct signs of recovery, and in some of the camps operations are already being resumed on an active scale, while the outlook for the future is regarded as very encouraging.

Howell Hinds, under whose management the Old Hundred mine near Silverton, Colo., was developed into one of the big producers of the Colorado gold district, has just paid a visit to this city. Mr. Hinds is very optimistic as to the outlook for the mining industry during the next year. He says that the producers of the gold and silver have nothing to fear from the industrial depression, as there is always a market for their product. He adds that the stock market depression has proved a blessing in disguise, as it has compelled the mining promoters to turn their attention from stock market exploitation to the legitimate development of their properties.

Another instance of the optimism felt by the mine managers is contained in the announcement that the Cobalt Central company, among the largest in the Cobalt district, has begun regular operations and is now concentrating and crushing fifty tons of ore daily.

Central Business College Items.

We acknowledge a very pleasant call from Miss Willa McClure, who has been very successfully holding one of the highest grade positions as stenographer in Nevada since leaving our school.

Miss Myrtle Mays, who has been holding a first-class position with the Kansas City Vehicle Co., Kansas City, Kas., at $75 per month, called at Central Business college on her Thanksgiving vacation. Out of five stenographers employed by this company she is the only one retained at the present time. When Miss Mays was asked if competent stenographers had any trouble in securing positions in Kansas City, she stated that they did not, that it was the incompetent stenographers who were let out when business got dull. She stated that her observation led her to believe that ninety-nine out of one hundred pupils were graduated from school before they were competent.

A number of our pupils have accepted good positions the past week: Mr. Leroy Bell with the Live Stock Commission company, Emma, Texas, at $60 per month.

Mr. F. C. Hays, Alva, Okla., has been elected county superintendent of public instruction of Woods county, Okla., at a salary of $1,000 per year. Mr. Hays is a first-class penman and this had a great deal to do with the election.

Mr. John Pinkle has a good position as bookkeeper for Simmons Hardware company, St. Louis.

Miss Maggie Ford has a good stenographic position with the Harvest King Distilling company, 308 West Sixth street, Kansas City, Mo. Miss Ford is a good stenographer and left school only a few days ago, being hired in this position at a time when many others were being discharged.

Mr. Cochran, stenographer for the Missouri Pacific railroad, received a nice raise in salary, which certainly speaks well for Mr. Cochran at a time like this.

Mr. John McLeod has just accepted a position as bookkeeper with the Armour Packing company, Chicago.

We have had two calls the past week for telegraph operators that we could not fill for the want of students who were ready to go out. Two were placed in good positions, however, the first part of the week, and write back good reports about their success.

Mr. Leroy Burruss had a splendid position as bookkeeper for The Lead at $70 per month, at Estancia, New Mexico.

Mr. J. M. King has a good position with the Kansas City Auto company at $12 per week. Mr. King is a good stenographer and will give the company first-class satisfaction.

We have had a good enrollment the past week. Seven new pupils have made arrangements to start Monday next, and we expect to have a good enrollment the entire week, notwithstanding we are approaching very near the holidays.

Twenty-four memberships have been written the past week for the gymnasium. The gym is on the boom. Several telegraph students have been enrolled and the correspondence for this department is the best in the history of the department.

We have so many calls for telegraph operators that it seems impossible to keep the students until their time is up.

Our night school is still increasing. The pupils in the night school are demonstrating the fact that no young man, who works through the day and has his evenings off, can afford to miss this opportunity of getting in-

S.S.S. MADE FROM ROOTS AND HERBS
A SAFE AND RELIABLE BLOOD PURIFIER

In the time of our forefathers the forests and fields were the only laboratories from which they could procure their medicines. They searched out and compounded the different roots, herbs and barks into remedies, many of which have been handed down to succeeding generations, and continuously used with satisfactory results. Among the very best of these old time preparations is S. S. S., a medicine made entirely from roots, herbs and barks, in such combination as to make it the greatest of all blood purifiers. This absolute vegetable purity of S. S. S. makes it the one medicine that may be used without fear of harmful results in any way. Most blood medicines on the market contain mercury, potash, or some other strong mineral. These act with bad effect on the system, upsetting the stomach, interfering with the digestion, affecting the bowels, and when used for a prolonged period of time often cause salivation. No such effects ever result from the use of S. S. S., and it may be taken by children as safely as by older people. For Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Malaria, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, and all other troubles caused by impure or poisoned blood, S. S. S. is a perfect remedy. It goes down into the circulation and removes all poisons, impurities, humors or unhealthy matter, and makes the blood pure and rich. It eliminates every particle of the taint of inherited blood trouble, purifies and strengthens the weak, deteriorated blood, and establishes the foundation for good health. S. S. S. is Nature's Blood Purifier, and its many years of successful service, with a steadily increasing demand for it, is the best evidence of its value in all blood troubles. Arlington, S. C. E. Warner, editor of the Haxel New Era, is the proprietor.

The railroad still lacks ten miles of reaching the place, and does not expect to get there until the first of next year. Pati is in the geographical center of Hamlin county, and the promoters of the town confidently expect to be able to move the county seat to that place from Castlewood, which is on the eastern edge of the county and difficult to reach from the western portion.

She Was Arrested During the Sunday Theater Crusade.

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 30.—Miss Rosalie Muckenfuss, formerly of St. Louis, daughter of B. S. Muckenfuss, manager of the Majestic theater, Dallas, Tex., has filed suit in the United States circuit court here for $20,000 damages against numerous police and other officers and bondsmen for being arrested during the Sunday theater crusade.

Miss Muckenfuss was well known in North St. Louis society circles about a year ago. She was a pupil of the Yeatman high school when her parents left for Texas.

Her father, Benj. Muckenfuss, was secretary of the St. Louis Cardinal baseball team before he went to Dallas to take charge of the Majestic theater.

SENT THEM BACK HOME

Starving Man Sees Feast Through Window and Falls in Sworn.

New York, Nov. 30.—Weak, emaciated, half starved, a ragged and tattered man crept up to the window of a residence on Long Island Thursday night and after gazing for a moment into the window fell in a swoon to the ground.

An hour later a policeman found him, and discovering that he was ill sent him to a hospital. There he was found to be starving.

He recovered sufficiently to tell the surgeons that his name was Louis Fink, and that he had not eaten for three days. He was a longshoreman, he said, and left his job when a strike was declared six months ago. Since then he had not averaged four meals a week and for three days he had not eaten a morsel.

"When I looked at the dinner," he said, "and saw a family at their Thanksgiving dinner I must have fainted."

The doctor's say that Fink's case is serious, but he may recover.

Spanish and Portuguese Immigrants Affected With Trachoma

New York, Nov. 30.—It cost the territorial government of Hawaii $10,000 to deport a party of undesirable citizens from Honolulu to their homes in Spain and Portugal. M. A. Silva, interpreter of the immigration station at Honolulu, returned to New York on the Adriatic yesterday, after personally conducting the party home.

Thirty-one Spaniards landed in Honolulu April 26, last, and two days later on another ship several came from Portugal. It was discovered that all these immigrants were suffering from trachoma in an advanced stage and all were ordered deported. From that time until they reached their homes they traveled and lived at the expense of the territorial government. The authorities will try to recover the money from the ships that landed the immigrants in Honolulu.

ADOLPH COULD NOT WAIT

FOR AFFINITY TO BECOME WIDOW, SO HE SWIGGED CARBOLIC ACID.

THE STORY COMES FROM PITTSBURG

In Love With a Woman Who Already Was Married and Was Averse to Waiting Until She Obtained Divorce.

Pittsburg, Penn., Nov. 30.—"Wait just a little longer, Adolph, and all will be well. We love each other madly and belong to each other."

These words, deferring his marriage to his affinity, Mrs. Carrie Holtsclaw, aged 25 years, caused Adolph Wagner, of the same age, to end his life a few minutes later by drinking carboic acid in the kitchen of her home, at 1016 Wylie avenue.

The infatuation of young Wagner for Mrs. Holtsclaw dated back to the time of their first meeting at about 4 o'clock one morning early last February. Wagner and the woman met on Fifth avenue, and, to quote Mrs. Holtsclaw:

"From that hour until he died he thought me to be a perfect angel. I was the soul of his soul and his idea of perfect womanhood. To prove that it was not all an idle dream, he used to spend over $50 on me daily."

"I was the soul of his soul," repeated Mrs. Holtsclaw at Wagner's body was being prepared for removal to the county morgue. "I understand that he formerly came from Clarion county, where his people are wealthy farmers."

"When we met he was without entanglements. I had left my husband at his home, 123 Deed street, Youngstown, Ohio. When we met Adolph said it was love at first sight, and that he had at last met his ideal. I explained to him my position, and it was ultimately arranged, as he had plenty of money, that I should take a big house, keep roomers and be independent. He paid the rent for a year in advance, also furnished the place in the best of style and paid for all the furnishings."

"Of late he insisted on our being married, but to this I would not consent until I had verified a report that my husband was dead. I did not want to be a bigamist. I wrote to the chief of police at Youngstown, and he replied to my letter that he had been unable to locate my husband and that he was unable to verify the report as to his death."

"Finally Wagner again proposed marriage, and I just had to turn him down. He left the room and went to the kitchen. A few minutes later I ascertained that he had taken 10 ounces of carboic acid, and death followed shortly afterward."

It was while in this condition that I was advised to procure Doan's Kidney Pills. I began using them and I gradually improved until the kidneys acted normally. By the time I had used two boxes I was cured. My husband also used your medicine with the best of results. We are both pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone troubled with their kidneys. MUST GET ON WATER WAGON

Will Stipulates That Two Sons Quit Drinking Intoxicants.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 30.—William A. Herscher and Charles Herscher, of Kankakee county, must mount the "water wagon" if they hope to inherit their share of their father's estate recently left to them, according to the terms of the will just probated. The estate is valued at $38,000, of which about $7,000 will go to each of five children.

The will provides that as soon as the two sons, Henry and Charles, quit drinking, they are to inherit their full share, but it is stipulated that each must prove to the satisfaction of the probate judge that he is leading a sober and industrious life. In the event they fail their shares will go to the other heirs.

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation, even to very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung-healing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb." Always demand Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by W. E. "LONELIES" OF BOTH SEXES

Chicago, November 30.—Following the example of St. Louis in providing a club for the "lonelies" of both sexes, Chicago has organized a "Widowed club," for the benefit of connubial bliss.

Mrs. M. Russell, 415 Forty-first street, has determined to house the bereft ones in her spacious home for the present. She is preparing a card room for those so inclined and refreshments will be served at regular meetings.

Mrs. Russell already has received 270 applications for membership. Some of the men applicants have sent Pradstreet and Dun reports as references and all have sent their business addresses. The applicants, men and women, range in age from 26 to 62.

"Of course, if any of the members like each other after they meet in the club and want to get married, that is none of my affair," said Mrs. Russell. "But they will lose their membership if they do."
